CLEMEN'S INDIAN TONIC.—An infallible cure for chills or ague and fever. The unexampled success of this truly unrivaled Tonics in curing in a few hours, when ALL other remedies have failed, and that, too, in cases of from six to ten months standing, warrants the assertion that if taken according to the directions, an entire cure will be effected; and as a test of its efficacy. I warrant a cure in six days, or give another bottle without any charge; but as yet not a single case has come back not cured L. J. HIGBY.

The Oregon Question.

"On the Oregon question we do not feel the solicitude that many do. We do not fear war from that nor any other question. So far as the ownership of the country is concerned it is unimportant Our people are occupying it, and we can annex it when the time comes, with the rest of the north-western continent"—[Southport Tel.

The view which the Southport Telegraph takes of the Oregon question strikes us as the right one. The "ownership" of the territory is, and has been for a long series of years, in dispute between this country and Great Britain. Meanwhile our emigrants have continued to multiply there until now the American residents greatly outnumber the British, and in five years hence, we shall have ten to their one. Under such circumstances every succeeding year must strengthen our claim and weaken that of Great Britain. What, then, are we to gain by precipitating the decision of a question which, if we but "let well alone," Time will determine in our favor? Why seek an appeal to arms to enforce our claim to a Territory which our emigrants are conquering, foot by foot, with the weapons of Peace and by the arts of Civilization?

War is the trade of Kings and Despots, not of Republics. There is no point of honor involved in this Oregon question which calls upon us to take up arms against Great Britain. Neither our rights, nor our interests demand, or will be advanced by, a resort to this extreme remedy. A war with England will be long, bloody and destructive.—That it would result, indeed, in our favor we do not doubt; but our triumph would be equally complete and certain if we remain at Peace. A five years war would put us in possession of Oregon, but at the cost of millions of treasure and many thousands of precious lives Five years of Peace would accomplish the same object, without bloodshed or sacrifice of any sort.

Of these two alternatives which does it become a Christian People to choose? In this enlightened age how shall we be held guiltless if we unnecessarily provoke a War? That our title to Oregon is "clear and unquestionable" we entertain no doubt; but neither do we doubt that we can make good this title and bring Oregon under our laws and government without having recourse to arms. It needs no prophet's eye to see that this North American Continent, from one extreme to the other, throughout its entire length and breadth, is to be the seat of Republican Institutions. From a spot no bigger than a man's hand, on the wild shores of New England, the Democratic principle has grown and spread till it now covers nearly half this grand division of the globe. Its course is still onward; its progress rapid; its ultimate ascendancy certain. England might indeed cope successfully with our Armies upon the field, or our Fleets on the ocean; but she can oppose no barrier that will withstand the swelling tide of Western Emigration, or the spreading influence of Liberal Principles. Oregon must and will be ours; and ours as soon and as surely, if we remain at Peace as if we resort to War. Let us then trust to our arts, rather than arms, to reclaim and settle Oregon. This were a triumph worthy of a civilized and christian Republic.

COMMON SCHOOLS.

We publish in to-day's Sentinel the resolutions adopted at a Convention of the friends of Common School Education, held at Mineral Point in October last. We commend them and the subject to which they relate to the earnest attention of our readers of all sexes, parties and conditions. It is indeed time that we bethink ourselves what provisions we should make for the education of the children in the Territory. Our present School System is notoriously inadequate to our wants. It seems to be alike erroneous in principle and defective in practice. Some better plan must be hit upon, and some more liberal provisions made for the education of the young. To this end a comparison of opinions, as well as concert of action, among the friends of Common Schools, is indispensably necessary. The Mineral Point meeting, appreciating this truth, recommend the formation of County Educational Associations and the appointment of Delegates from all the organized counties in the Territory to a Convention which is to assemble at Madison on the 15th day of January next Both suggestions strike us favorably and will, we hope, be acted upon by the friends of Common School Education throughout the Territory. As to the part which the Convention assigned to us, we shall endeavor to prove our sense of this unlooked for honor by devoting our best efforts to the accomplishment of the task prescribed.

☞ A reward of $150 has been offered by Mr. Van Colt for the detection and apprehension of the thieves who broke into his shop at Racine on the evening of the 20th instant and stole some $2000 worth of watches and jewelry.

Marine.—The Propeller New York, from Oswego, Oct. 28th, arrived here yesterday morning, after a rough and tedious passage. She encountered a very heavy gale and sea on Wednesday night; the worst indeed, the Captain says, that he ever met on the Lakes. The New York, being well over to the Westward, came along under the lee of the Wisconsin shore; but the schrs. Oliver Richmond and Bonesteel, which left the Manitous ahead of the New York, must have been exposed to the full fury of the gale. There were doubtless other vessels out on the Lake during Wednesday and yesterday and a severe time they must have had of it, for the cold has been as intense as in midwinter. We sincerely hope that all have weathered the storm in safety.

The Cleveland, which came in on Wednesday evening, lay at the Pier till dawn on Thursday, when the sea making she ran out and anchored in the Bay. Soon after 11 o'clock in the morning, however, she lifted her anchor and went on her way to Chicago. The Propeller Phœnix, bound down, and the schooner C. Walker, for Chicago, lie in the river and will probably remain there till the weather moderates.

Winter in Earnest.—We have had snapping cold weather for the last two days. Winter takes hold as if it meant to hang on long and hard.

Gov. of Iowa.—James Clarke, the recently appointed Governor of Iowa, is a printer by trade and formerly worked in the office of the St. Louis Republican. At the time of his appointment he was editor of the Burlington Gazette.

"The Milwaukie House."—We announced some days since that the Milwaukie House had been leased by Mr. P. G. Jones, of Prairieville, and we took occasion to speak, from our own experience, of the merits and capabilities of the new Host. The American Freeman, published at Prairieville, pays the following parting compliment to Mr. Jones:

"The Prairieville House, in this village, will soon be vacated—P. G. Jones, its popular host, being about to remove to Milwaukie, to take possession of the Milwaukie House, which under his auspices will be renovated, and, we venture to predict, made one of the best houses in that city.—The Prairieville House, under its present administration, has the reputation of being the best establishment of the kind in the interior; and while our own knowledge derived from experience in the premises, justifies the statement that we believe this reputation to be fully deserved, the expression of a regret at the loss which our village may sustain by a change, will not be considered out of place—for it will be difficult to supply the places of 'mine host' and hostess of the Prairieville House.'

It is high time that the Milwaukie House is opened again, for all the other public houses are full and can accommodate no more.

Population of Michigan.—The Detroit Free Press publishes the returns of the late census from 25 of the 31 organized counties of the Peninsular State. The total population in these 25 counties is 276,572. In 1840 the same counties contained 195,388 inhabitants. It is supposed that the returns from the remaining six counties, which are St. Clair, Lapeer, Clinton, Barry, Cass and Chippewa, will swell the aggregate to 300,000. In 1840 the population of Michigan was 211,705; the increase in five years, therefore, has been some ninety thousand. This is a fair rate of increase, but nothing to the way Wisconsin is going ahead. If our Michigan friends don't hurry up a little the Badgers will be close on their heels in 1850.

☞ There were 327,000 bushe's of wheat in store at Chicago on the 22d instant. The Journal thinks that by spring, the stock on hand will exceed a million of bushels. This is pretty well for a country which only five or six years ago drew its supplies of bread-stuffs from the East.

Mr. Blair's Pictures.—The exhibition of Portraits at Military Hall on Wednesday evening, attracted a large number of our citizens, who bore testimony to the fidelity of most of the likenesses. There was one family group in particular, which seemed to be generally admired, and which certainly does Mr. Blair much credit. This young Artist, who has resided some two years in the West, gives promise of attaining a very respectable rank in his profession. It is his intention, we learn, to spend the coming winter in New York, for the sake of the superior advantages for study and practice which that city affords. He will return again to Milwaukie in the spring, and will meet, we hope, with the encouragement and success that he deserves.

A Killing Frost.—A man going by the name of Sam Frost killed two Indians and a squaw in the Cherokee country on the 20th ult. There is no account of his arrest.

An Example for Ladies of Genius.—Mrs. Sigourney, the poetess, took the premium at the late Fair of the American Institute for the best pair of domestic silk stockings.

A Patriarch Gone.—Mr. Andrew Snyder died at Intercourse, Lancaster county, Pa., on the 1st instant, in the hundred and thirteenth year of his age. He was a soldier of the Revolution, and a highly respectable citizen: and was perhaps the oldest man in Pennsylvania.

Girard College.—At length the orphans who were to be benefitted by the munificent bounty of Mr. Girard may exclaim, "We see land." The college is nearly finished. Badly managed as the legacy has been, still the building is almost ready for the reception of students Crowds daily promenade upon the roof, which affords them a fine panoramic view of the environs of Philadelphia.—The roof is of marble. It is composed of square tiles of marble, about 40 inches square, and is so nearly flat that you walk upon it without difficulty. The roof is about 100 feet from the ground. The building is surrounded by a Corinthian colonnade that surpasses most of the achievements of modern art.

☞ Mr. Calhoun arrived at New Orleans on the 7th inst. accompanied by his two sons. The citizens generally crowded the hotel to pay their respects to the distinguished statesman. A collation was given to him at the St. Charles Hotel. He made a few remarks in reply to a complimentary toast, and closed with the following:

"The Valley of the Mississippi: The greatest in the world, take it all in all. Situated as it is between the two oceans, it will yet command the commerce of the world, and that commerce may be centered in New Orleans."

Correspondence of the True Sun.

Philadelphia, Nov. 12th.

I have a private letter to-day from one of the best informed men in Washington, (not connected with the Government,) in which great apprehension of a war with England are expressed. My correspondent speaks the sentiments of the cabinet circle, as I know he has means. In this city there is an uneasy feeling on the subject—a sense of insecurity in business or in engagements which may be affected by the value of stocks or real estate.

A Yankee Trick.—"I calculate I couldn't drive a trade with you to-day?" said a true specimen of a Yankee pedlar, as he stood at the door of a merchant in St. Louis.

"I calculate you calculate about right, for you cannot," was the sneering reply.

"Wal, I guess you needn't get huffy about it.—Now here's a dozen real genuine razor strops, worth two dollars and a half—you may have 'em for two dollars."

"I tell you I don't want any of your trash, so you had better be going."

"Wal, now I declare! I'll bet you five dollars if you make me an offer for them are strops, we'll have a trade yet."

"Done!" replied the merchant, placing the money in the hands of a bystander. The Yankee deposited the like sum—when the merchant offered him a picayune for the strops.

"They're yourn," said the Yankee, as he quietly fobbed the stakes. "But," he added, with great apparent honesty, "I calculate a joke's a joke, and if you don't want them strops, I'll trade back."

The merchant's countenance brightened. "You are not so bad a chap, after all; here are your strops—give me the money."

"There it is," said the Yankee, as he received the strops and passed over the picayune "A trade's a trade—and now you're wide awake, in earnest, I guess the next time you trade with that are pie, you'll do a little better than to buy razor strops."

And away walked the pedlar with his strops and his wager, amid the shouts of the laughing crowd,

A "Millerite" Miracle.

In a little village in the State of Hoosieriana, in the year 1844, there were 'all sorts' of excitement concerning the doctrines and prophecies of that arch deceiver Miller. For months the Midnight Cry, followed by the Morning Howl, and the Noonday Yell, had circulated through the village and surrounding counties, to an extent not even equalled by Dr. Duncan's celebrated Coon speech — Men disposed of their property for a little or nothing. The women were pale and ghastly from watching and praying, and in fact the whole population, or at least those who believed in the coming ascension, looked as if they were about half over a second attack of the chills and fever. There were, however, some "choice spirits" (not choice in theirs, however,) who, notwithstanding the popularity of the delusion, would not enlist under the banners of the ascensionists, and among these was a wild harum-scarum blade from "Down East," by the name of Cabe Newman. Now Cabe was as hard a "case" as you would meet on the fourth of July, in Texas, always alive for fun and sport of any and every description and a strong disbeliever in Millerism.

The night of the 2d of April was the time agieed upon out west for the grand exhibition of "ground and lofty tumbling," and about 10 o'clock of the same night, numbers of the Millerites assembled on the out skirts of the town, on a little eminence, upon which the proprietor had allowed a few trees to stand. In the crowd, and the only representative of his race present, was a free negro by the name of Sam, about as ugly, black, wooly, and rough a descendant of Ham as ever baked his shins over a kitchen fire.

Sam's head was small, body and head very long, and his legs bore a remarkable resemblance to a pair of hames; in fact, put Sam on a horse, his legs clasped around his neck, his head towards the tail, and his arms clasped around the animals hams, and at ten paces you would swear he was an old set of patent gearing. The leader of the Millerites, owing to "an ancient grudge he bore him," hated Sam "like smoke," and had done all in his power to prevent his admittance among the "elect," but all to no purpose—Sam would creep in at every meeting, and to-night, here he was dressed in a white robe of cheap cotton, secured to his body by a belt, and shouting and praying as loud as the best.

Now on the morning of the 3d, Cabe had with a deal of perseverance, and more trouble, managed to throw a half inch hemp cord over the branch of an oak, which stretched its long arm directly over the spot where the Millerites would assemble; one end he had secured to the body of the tree, and the other to a stump some distance off. About 10 o'clock, when the excitement was getting about "80 lbs. to the inch," Cabe, wrapped in an old sheet, walked into the crowd, and proceeded to fasten in as secure a manner as possible, the end of the rope to the back part of the belt which confined Sam's robe—succeeded, and sloped, to join some of his companions who had the other end. The few stars in the sky threw a dim light over the scene and in a few moments the voice of Sam was heard exclaiming, "Gor Almighty, I'se again up! Whoso-oh!" And sure enough, Sam was seen mounting into the ethereal blue; his ascent was however, checked when he had cleared "terra firma" a few feet. "Glory," cried one; "Hallelujah," another, and shrieks and yells, made night hideous; some fainted, others prayed, and not a few dropped their robes and "slid." Now whether it was owing to the lightness of his head, or to the length and weight of his heels, or both, Sam's position was not a pleasant one; the belt to which Cabe's cord was attached, was bound exactly around his centre of gravity, and Sam swung like a pair of scales, head up and heels down, heels up and head down, at the same time sweeping over the crowd like a pendulum, which motion was accelerated by his strenuous clapping of hands, and vigorous kicking At length he became alarmed, he wouldn't go up, and he couldn't come down. "Lor a Massy," cried he, "just take um poor nigger to um bosom, or let him down again, easy, easy, Gor almighty! Let him down again, please um Lord, and dis nigger will go straight to um bed. Ugh h-h;" and Sam's teeth chattered with affright, and he kicked again more vigorously than before, bringing his head directly downward, and his heels up, when a woman shrieked out—"Oh! brother Sam, take me with you," sprung at his head as he swept by her, and caught him by the wool, bringing him up "all standing." "Gosh! Sister," cried Sam, "let go um poor nigger's hair." Cabe gave another pull at the rope, but the additional weight was too much, the belt gave way and down came Sam, his bullet head taking the leader of the saints a 'feeler' just between the eyes. "Gosh, is I down again?" cried the bewildered Sam, gathering himself up. "I is, bress de Lord! but I was nearly dar, I seed de gates!" The leader wiped his overflowing proboscis, took Sam by the nape of the neck, led him to the edge of the crowd, and giving him a kick "a la posteriore," said, "Leave! you cussed baboon, you are so plaged ugly I know'd they would'nt let you in!"

The Mormons.—The find the following in the last Cincinnati Commercial.

We are informed that Almon Babbit, Esq. authorized agent for the Mormons, is now in this city, his business being to see Bishop Purcell, of the Catholic Church, about effecting a sale of the lands and buildings at Nauvoo, including the great Temple, to the Catholic Church. The business properly belongs to the Bishop of Chicago, but we are informed that that functionary had not the funds to make the purchase without consulting our distinguished townsman, Bishop Purcell.

Mr. B. states that it is positively the intention of the Mormons to dispose of their property to the Catholic Church, and to remove out of the present jurisdiction of the U. States over Rocky Mountains, to establish a government of their own. We are assured that this is no idle tale; that the preparations making are extensive. It looks to be very reasonable, and accounts for the fact, which we have before mentioned, of the closing of the ports of Nauvoo to strangers, and caused our St Louis correspondent to think that they (the Mormons) could not intend to make sale of their lands. It is also a mistake that the Smiths own any considerable amount of property in possession of the Mormons at this time. From what we can learn, Mr. B. has as good as effected a sale of the Mormon city to the church above named, and we presume that such will be, ere long, formally announced to the world.

From New Zealand.—We have received a New Zealand paper of the 7th of June, in which we find a long account of a fight between the Natives and British troops, under the command of Col. W. Hulme, commanding the force at Bay of Islands. The British force consisted of the ships North Star, and Hazard, and the 58th and 96th regiments. The contest took place on the 8th of May, and the English commander claims a great victory, but he reports 13 killed, and 2 officers and 37 seamen, marines and soldiers, wounded—showing that there was pretty sharp work on the part of the natives.—[Buff. Railroad Iron for Michigan.—There are four invoices of railroad iron which have been shipped from this port, during the past week, for Michigan. The purchase has been completed of iron and spike for laying the track of the Central Road to Kalamazoo, and the Tecumseh, and the entire lot is now afloat, and will reach its destination within two weeks.

Educational Convention.

According to previous notice given, a Convention assembled at the Court House in Mineral Point, on Thursday the 16th day of Oct. A. D. 1845, at 2 o'clock, P. M. for the purpose of taking into consideration the propriety of adopting a more uniform and efficient system of education in the Territory of Wisconsin

The following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

1. Resolved, That one of the first and highest duties devolving upon Legislators, is to provide as far as may be suitable Legislation, for the education of the whole people.

2. Resolved, That the education of the entire mass of the population can alone be accomplished by the establishment of an efficient and uniform system of common schools

3. Resolved, That the defects existing in the present system of common schools in this Territory, demand the early and prompt action of the Territorial Legislature, in providing a remedy.

4. Resolved, That for the purpose of facilitating Legislative action upon the important subject of common schools in this Territory, a committee of five be appointed for the purpose of devising a suitable system of common schools in this Territory, and of embodying the same in the form of a bill, to be presented to the Territorial Legislature for its action at its next session; and that said committee be requested also to prepare and address a memorial to the Legislature in furtherance of the objects contemplated in the said proposed bill.

5. Resolved, That for the purpose of collecting and diffusing information on the subject of common schools, and of awakening the attention of all classes of the people to the great importance of having an efficient system of common schools established in Wisconsin, and of securing their united co-operation in furtherance of such an object, it be recommended to the different counties in this territory to organize county educational associations, whose object shall be to promote, by all suitable means, the cause of common school education in their respective counties and throughout the Territory at large.

6. Resolved that it be respectfully recommended to the Legislature of the Territory, to appoint an agent to visit the different school districts in this Territory, as well for the purpose of arousing the attention of the people to the importance of the subject of common schools, and of examining into and ascertaining their condition; as to report to the Legislature the result of such examinations, together with such suggestions as may be conducive to the advancement of the cause of common schools.

7. Resolved, That it be recommended to the friends of common schools in this Territory, to hold a Convention at Madison, the seat of government, on the 15th of January next, for the purpose of adopting such measures as may be deemed expedient to promote the cause of common school education in Wisconsin; and that it be recommended to every county in the Territory to send delegates to said convention.

8 Resolved, That this convention respectfully request the editors of the several papers published in this Territory to copy the foregoing proceedings.

M M Jackson and J B Darnall of Iowa county, G. F. Magoun of Grant county, and Rufus King of Milwaukie, were appointed the Committee in accordance with the fourth resolution.

More Forts.—We hear that an office: has been despatched to make a survey of the government reservation at the head of the St. Clair river, and to fix upon a suitable site for a new fortification there, in the place of the old stockade, at Fort Gratiot and to make the necessary estimates.

These estimates will be laid before Congress with a strong recommendation of the Engineer department in favor of the work. We trust that Congress will at once grant the means necessary to make this defence to our neglected frontier, especially if we are to have war with Oregon.—[Detroit Daily Adv.

The Rattlesnake.—We once visited Lake George, and passed some pleasant days on its borders and among the surrounding mountains, and became acquainted with divers fishermen and hunters, and received from them much information as to the subject of those prolonged editorials The country around this beautiful sheet of water was then distinguished, among other things, for the abundance, beauty and vivacity of its rattlesnakes. One man at least made a decent living by catching them and selling them for shows. He was finally killed by them at last, as we shall relate in a minute

The usual mode of catching a rattlesnake is this: You take a forked stick—in our judgment it can't be too long—and seizing your opportunity, put it over his neck like a yoke, and press it into the ground. If you wish to carry the fellow off alive, you then take a firm hold of him by the neck, close to the head, lift up your stick with the other hand, and pitch him as quickly as possible into a basket covered with a cloth. Another method is this: You first irritate the snake, and then, having hold of one end of a piece of woolen cloth, or a silk handkerchief, you toss the other towards him, into which he will instantly strike his fangs. You then jerk away the cloth or handkerchief, and thereby extract his fangs, for they are but loosely jointed to a small bone in the roof of his mouth. The snake is now harmless, and you may take him up and fondle him as you please—though it is not pleasant to us to have his body twined around our arm, his rattle singing in our ear, and his toothless head dabbing spitefully in our face.

The snake catcher, to whom we have referred, walked off one morning with his basket toward a populous den, determined, as he said, to get a backload of the serpents. Perhaps he did—but he did not carry them far. He was found dead near the den. The basket was uncovered and empty. Near the corpse was a dead snake evidently mangled with the man's knife, which lay near at hand on the ground.—The probability is that he neglected to secure the cover—that one of the captured snakes took advantage of the aperture and stung him in the arm—that he killed one of the reptiles, and began to cut it up to get the oil to swallow and apply as a cure, when the action of poison overcame him, and he fell into that draw-in-ess which is quickly succeeded by death.—[Buff. Com. Adv.

Gen. Jackson and Gen. Cass.—While Gen. Jackson was President, and Gen. Cass Secretary of war, (we think it was in 1832) they visited a portion of New England together.—In riding over that highly cultivated country, Gen. Jackson was much pleased with the appearance of the people, and expressed his gratification to his companion.

"What fine manly countenances these men carry!" exclaimed the President. "How robust and vigorous they are!—and what a spirit of enterprise they manifest! Why, with an army of such men, I would undertake to face the world!"

"Do you know the cause of these characteristics that you prize so highly?" rejoined the veteran Secretary.

"What is it?" asked the old Hero,

"Do you see the steeple of that meeting house yonder on the hill?"

"Yes," replied the President.

"And that low school house near it?"

"I see them both," said General Jackson.

"Well," answered Gen. Cass, himself a native of the Granite State, "there is where New England men are made. The instructions they receive in the school house and meeting house give them the pre-eminence over others which you have so justly described."

CIRCUIT COURT.

The Circuit Court commenced its Session here on Monday last, and is still continued, under the superintendence of Judge Whiting, whose able charge to the Grand Jury was listened to with much interest and attention.—On the bench with him are Judges Clarke, Foot, Rappleye and Ingersol. Not a prisoner is in Jail for the action of the Grand Jury. Among the brotherhood of the Bar, we discover the celebrated Ex-Governor Seward, who is said to have sacrificed his property to his official duties while at the helm of State—and while we admire his character as a man, we cannot but say to ourselves, what a pity such a man is a Whig!

"Such a man" could be nothing less or more than "a Whig." He dees res the prosperity, improvement and happiness of the country, and is of necessity a Whig. But he is a practical democratic Whig His sentiments, habits, sympathies and impulses are all republican He is of and with the People. When Chief Magistrate, instead of keeping himself within his mansion, in imitation of Royalty, he mingled and commuued daily and familiarly with his fellow citizens, as one of themselves. He had a listening ear and an open hand for all who approached him in affliction or poverty. And when his term of service expired, instead of lurking and loafing about, as many professed Democrats do, for more "spoils," he returned to his Office and his Clients, where he is laboring hard, day and night, to support his family and pay his debts.—Albany Eve. Journal.

Breach of promise cases are becoming fashionable again. We had not heard much of them for a few years past: but the rage for speculation prevails so extensively that the ladies have gone into it "with a loos-ness." It is dangerous squeezing hands or casting sheep's eyes now a days. If a young man says a soft thing this evening, he may have a sheriff after him to-morrow. A constructive promise can be raised out of any thing—and they are the worst kind of promises in the world, for nobody but a court and jury can tell when they are made or what they amount to. The market price of a breach of promise is about $1000; but the rise or fall in the article is often rapid and unaccountable as it is so in the case of Maliga fruit, or potatoes.—[Exeter News Let.

THE MARKETS

Office of the Daily Sentinel,
Milwaukie, Nov. 27, 1845.

Who'at has come in to-day, with a rush, but as there is less competition among buyers, the market has settled again at former rates. We quote 75@78 as the range of to-day's transactions. No change in flour. Salt has advanced as the season of navigation draws to a close, and sold to-day at $2 00 per bbl.

CHICAGO, Nov. 25. 4,761 bush. wheat came forward yesterday. Which was taken at former quotations, 70 cts. being the extreme top of the market for lots of the extra quality, well cleaned. 77 cents is the ruling rate this morning.—[Daily Jour.

MARRIED,

At St. Paul's Church, on the 20th inst. by the Rev. R. Ackerley, Mr. DAVID FURGESON, to Miss LUCRITIA ADELINE, daughter of Royal Jennings Esq., Merchant, all of Milwaukie.

DIED,

On the 12th of October, 1845, at his residence on the Wisconsin River, Mr. AMABLE GRIGNON, aged 49 years.

Mr. Grignon was a descendant of Capt. De Langlade, who was one of the first settlers of Green Bay, and honorably known in the early history of North-ern Wisconsin. By his death, the country loses one of its most estimable citizens, and society a highly respected member. Mr. G. was noted, in the section of country in which he resided, for the urbanity of his manners and generous hospitality.

On the 7th of November, at Butte de Morts, Mr. PAUL GRIGNON, Jr., aged 32 years, son of Mr. Augustin Grignon, and nephew of the late Mr. Amable Grignon.

THE PEOPLE'S STORE....A couple of stand, Farmers coming to, and the other returning from Town, on the Green Bay road, after having passed the usual salutations, were heard making the following remarks.

"Well, neighbor Burrows, I have come to the conclusion that it matters a little to us who is our Delegate in Congress, or which party nominates the Assemblymen, so long as our interests and the interests of our common country are protected. It is not a question for us in our new homes, whether the people earn their bread by the sweat of the brow, or otherwise; that, where we can get the most money for the products of our labor most, where we can get the greatest amount, and the best qualities of the necessaries of life for that money. What say you, Sir?"

"What say I, neighbor Stevens? Why, I say that my views coincide with yours exactly on that subject. Nothing has given me so much trouble as the immense unfounded Milwaukie Speculation, and I sincerely wish our country was done with your wagon full of the good things. I was just going to ask you what you would give Wheat for—what you got for it, and where you did'y our trading. I suppose you have no objection to telling me?"

"No objection at all, neighbor Burrows; I will answer your questions with the greatest pleasure. I sold my Wheat to STARRS—got seventy cents per bushel and dollars for it, and done my trading at the PEOPLE'S STORE. I have traded there pretty much almost ever since the Store first opened. He always pays the highest price for what I take to market, and sells me whatever I want for what I take to market, and sells me whatever I want for a great deal cheaper than I can buy at any other store—a great deal cheaper than I can buy at from two shillings and six York to one dollar and a quarter. Molasses at four shillings; good Sugar at nine cents; and my Wife says that his tea falling Tea is better than we ever bought in York State for one dollar; besides his stock is one of the very largest in town. Why, if one quarter of the stores in the east side of the river had such stocks, they would make the greatest noise about it you could imagine. You can scarcely call for an article that he has not got—one of Uncle Sam's long strands; everything looks new and good, and he can afford to sell so cheap when all the other store keepers are complaining about the advance of prices, I cannot tell, but certain it is the People have found him out, and there are constant streams of customers going in and out of his store, and it is really amusing to see how happy they all look as they go home with their arms, baskets and wagons filled with Dry Goods, Groceries, or whatever else they may have wanted; not only that, he treats his customers, rich and poor—Americans—Irishmen—Dutchmen—all men—alike. It is emphatically the People's Store, and I recommend you and all my friends and neighbors who want to be prepared for a rainy day, to sell your produce and do your trading at HENRY SAYRS' PEOPLE'S STORE."

"Where did you say that store is, neighbor Stevens?"

"In the West Ward, near the American House; just before you turn to cross the Spring street bridge. You'll see a large sign over the door——"
nov18 THE PEOPLE'S STORE."

WHEAT WANTED, at the late stand of J. & L. Ward.—The subscribers will pay cash and the highest price for any quantity of good white Wheat at the above stand. FANCY MILLINER....Mrs. Vedder would inform the ladies of Milwaukie and its vicinity that she has just opened her shop on the west side of East Water street, one door north of G. J. Fowler's Boarding house, and nearly opposite the Postoffice. She has brought with her the late Fashions from the city of New York, with a large assortment of materials for dressing Straws of all kinds. She has also obtained a recipe for bleaching Straws from one of the most approved Straw Factories in Connecticut, and can assure all those who may favor her with their custom, that their work will be done with neatness and dispatch. Particular attention would be given to Dress Making and Cutting to order.—Those wishing to purchase will do well to call before purchasing elsewhere. Milwaukie, oct10 dmd&w

NOTICE....This is to inform the citizens of Milwaukie that from and after this date what few Goods I sell will go for money, and not for "just set this down," or "I'll hand his in, in a day or two."—Cash down and low prices, will be my motto; and those persons guilty of Cheap puffing and running their ugly faces for credit, wherever they find fools to trust them, had better save my store a wide berth, for all the "accommodation" they'll get; as I do not mean to make the honest part of community pay for what rogues may choose to buy, with no paying for. Those who have money, will find it to their advantage to call and see the Goods of EMPIRE Hot Air COOKING STOVE.

L. J. FARWELL—Rogers' Block, on East Water street—Now offers to the public this approved Cook Stove, of different sizes, to suit small families, or large Boarding Houses or Hotels. The high character which this Stove has obtained wherever it has been introduced, is a guaranty of its excellence. The complete success which has attended the introduction of hot air into the oven, and other improvements in the construction of the Empire Stove, justify him in warranting them to bake equally as well as a brick oven, and to perform all other operations in cooking with 50 per cent less fuel than any other cooking stove now in use

An examination of the stove will ensure its sale, and a trial of it fully realize all reasonable expectations.

THE EXCITEMENT at EME-

RY'S CONFECTIONERY!!—STATEMENT OF FACTS!—The proprietor, whose shop is on Wisconsin st., a few doors above the Bookstore of Hale & Hopkins, deems it proper, and begs leave respectfully to state, that in regard to the movement about his shop on account of the arrival of so large a stock of Goods in its line, the excitement was not as great as might have been expected, nor did his shop or Goods receive any material damage. That such an unprecedented arrival of Toys, FANCY ARTICLES and SUGAR PLUMS, should create quite a stir among the children, as well as those of more mature age, is natural. He is however, happy to state that the crowd (who had assembled only to gaze on the endless variety comprising his stock,) were easily dispersed, all perfectly satisfied that the greatest lot of pretty TOYS, FANCY BOXES, DOLLS and CONFECTIONERY that they ever did see, is to be found at EMERY'S, and quietly though anxiously wait the annual visit of Old Santa Claus, richly laden with the good things to be found at this establishment.

The proprietor, thankful for past favors, and expecting in a few days to move to his new shop, nearly opposite his present stand, will then be able to spread out his stock of valuables, and respectfully solicits a continuance of the patronage of the public. The public generally are invited to call at this establishment, where all the varieties of an eastern city confectionery may be had. Molasses Candy as usual at the reduced rates.

☞ Country merchants and dealers supplied as usual with Candies. nov12

WEST WARD FOREVER!....R.

HOUGHTON takes this method of informing the customers of the late firm of R. HOUGHTON & Co. and the public generally, that the business in future will be conducted by him at the old stand, where he has now on hand a general assortment of DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY, GLASSWARE, HARDWARE, NAILS, PAINTS, OILS, &c. all of which will be offered for sale at a small advance from cost, for cash or most kinds of country produce.

Believing the cash or ready pay system to be the cheapest, and eventually the most profitable for the buyer as well as the seller, that principle will be adopted and strictly adhered to. He does not wish to "puff" and boast of his long residence and extensive acquaintance in N. York, great facilities and extraordinary abilities in purchasing Goods, &c.; as he never say he will sell cheaper than anybody else; but he does wish to say, his motto being "live and let live," and on the principle that a "humble sixpence is better than a shilling," he will be found selling "the cheapest," the "best" and "most salable stuff." Those who call and examine for themselves, he pledges himself to demonstrate to the entire satisfaction of every one who may favor him a call. nov25 1

EASTERN WHOLESALE HOUSE.

DRY GOODS. Milwaukie, W. T.—SEXTON & CRANE, having leased the new and spacious store, No. 132 East Water street, first door north of the United State Hotel, are now offering rare opportunities to country dealers and others who will call to purchase Dry Goods cheap at wholesale. Their stock consists in part of the following DRY GOODS—Broad, Pilot and Beaver Cloths;
Cassimeres; Satinets; Vestings; Bosoms; Collars;
Dress Goods, of every description; Prints;
Bleached and Brown Sheetings; Linens; Diapers;
Bagging; Flannels; Shawls, &c.; in short everything comprising a complete assortment, adapted to the wholesale trade in this vicinity. Also a large stock of FANCY GOODS—Pins; Needles; Threads; Tapes; Ribbons; Buttons; Silks; Twists; Bindings; Cord, &c.

The largest assortment of BOOTS & SHOES in the market. The above stock of Goods were bought for cash by one of the best buyers in the eastern market, who will spend his time in New York, Boston and Hartford, giving his entire attention to selecting and forwarding Bargains to this city. The above stock of Goods will be sold on the most favorable terms, and we pay for no man's credit.

Our motto—No charge for showing Goods. Please call and see us. We will sell you more Goods for the same money than any other House west of Boston. No. 132 East Water street, first door north of the U. States Hotel.

JAMES KNEELAND would respectfully give notice to his old friends that his Stores have been re-built in a new and handsome style, (fire proof,) and that he has removed his entire stock of Goods from his temporary location, No. 3, Cheapside, to his New Stores, Nos. 157 and 159 East Water st., where he has received and is now opening 50,000 dollars worth of assorted MERCHANDIZE, selected with much care and attention, expressly for this market, for the Fall and Winter Trade, which he offers for sale, wholesale or retail, as low as can be purchased at any other House in this city. No. 159 is fitted up for DRY GOODS and CROCKERY, and No. 157 for HARDWARE, STOVES and GROCERIES.

He would venture to say that no House in the western country can furnish so extensive and complete an assortment of GOODS as can be procured at his establishment. Persons visiting the city would do well to call and satisfy themselves of the above facts.

In conclusion, permit him to say, that no person can feel more grateful for a liberal patronage, and it shall be his constant endeavor to retain that same generous confidence that has been bestowed upon him during his residence in this city. 1 oct1

SANDS' SARSAPARILLA.—Few of one of the most frequent and lingering diseases which the human body is liable to. Its first impression is upon the nervous system then the vessels of the skin become deranged, pimples, tetters and rheumatism follow. After this the general system is overcome and the patient sinks home with the attack unless relieved by appropriate remedies. Noxious effluvia and various impurities are the cause of fever, being infused through the atmosphere, and then into the lungs, which the person continues with the impure fluids of the body and is carried by the circulating organs to the remote examinations of the system. If then the mind is not in a proper frame and healthy state, and every organ performing its functions properly, there can be no animation of the living cause which is the immediate effect of such impurities. We therefore see that from an impure state of the blood and depraved condition of the general constitution and consequently no life.

For further particulars and conclusive evidence of its superiority, see pamphlets, see pamphlets, which may be obtained of agents this

SAY! STRANGER—have you been in LUDINGTON & Co's Store on the corner, since they have received their Fall stock of GOODS? If you have not, I really advise you to go. It is a strange thing indeed to see such quantity of Goods, and so equal an assortment, in any one store. I have often heard people say that they had a very large stock of Goods but I never had an idea that their stock was so tremendously large. I have been all around town, in their "Wholesale Stores," "Cheap Cash Stores" "One Price Store," "Great Excitement" Stores, "25 Per cent less than any other House in the Territory" stores. Fancy Stores "New Stores," "Western Stores," &c &c But after visiting all, I put LUDINGTON & Co's store down at extra No. 1. You will find them willing, to wholesale or retail Goods cheap for cash, at one fair price, with all the least excitement, not 25 P cent cheaper than any other store in town, and they have a fine assortment of Fancy Goods, and will sell as cheap as can be bought at any new store in this Western country They have, according to the best authority and my own observations, the largest and best selected assortment of Goods in Milwaukie, and their prices appear to give first rate satisfaction among the people. It may seem strange, but it is nevertheless true, that they should sell so many Goods to so many people. Why! you can hardly go into any town in Wisconsin but what you will see undoubted evidences that they are doing a tremendous large business. As far out as the Mineral region—yea! miles further you will see dry goods boxes, barrels, kegs, &c &c with Ludington & Co's name on, which is a strong indication that they were sent there from their store, filled with Goods Ask the principal residents of Milwaukie, Washington, Dodge, Walworth Fortage, Fond du Lac Marquette, and numerous other counties, where they buy their dry goods, groceries. hardware, crockery, boots and shoes, feather, stone ware, wooden ware sash, glass, ropes paints, oils, pork, fish salt, lumber, Bath and shingles, and Minor & Horton's celebrated unrivaled Ploughthey will tell you at the 'Old Corner Store" in Milwaukie. Ask them still farther, where they sell their produce, wheat, corn, oats, barley, timothy and flax seed beeswax, hides, &c &c. and when gives the highest cash price, and they will tell you LUDINGTON & Co. of Milwaukie. oct9 Cm.
